

RIZOR AUTOMATED Tonneau COVER

The Rizor automated tonneau cover is a remote-controlled fiberglass tonneau cover. It offers the same weather protection and security of traditional covers, but gives users the ability to drive the vehicle with the cover doors open. Users no longer have to remove covers because a load is too high, they press the button on the remote key fob to open the cover, load and secure their cargo, then close the doors so that they rest against the load. Rizor's automated tonneau is currently available for 2005-2009 Ford F-150 and 2007-2009 GMC/Sierra/Silverado 1500-3500 models. It will soon be available for 1999-2009 Dodge Ram, Ford F-250/350 Superduty, Nissan Titan and Toyota Tundra models.

TRUCK COVERS USA AMERICAN X-BOX

Truck Covers USA has introduced the new 2009 American X-Box toolbox and truck cover. This version of the American Work Cover features Line-X XTRA, a spray-on urethane coating fortified with DuPont Kevlar that permanently bonds to the toolbox inside and out, providing a weather-tight seal to protect against extreme heat, cold, moisture, abrasion and rust, according to Truck Covers USA. The increased tensile strength rating makes the American X-Box resistant to scratches, gouges and punctures, according to the company. The American X-Box is designed to enhance the look of any work truck with convenience and ease of use, while providing protection and security.
